The report shows that there has been practically no railroad building in the State during the two years past. The Knoxville Branch is assessed at $2,602,217.

JAY GOULD.

The Many Millionaire Passes in His Checks.

They Were Never Protested Here. May They Be Similarly Honored Hereafter.

Jay Gould is dead and though he had millions upon millions of money, his end was the same as if he had been a common, every-day individual with not a cent to pay for decent burial. Preliminary consumption knocked him out in short order and at 9.15 Friday morning he breathed his last.

The history of Jay Gould from the barefooted boy who wandered over the rough hills of Delaware county to the railroad king, whose wealth was estimated at $100,000,000, is one of the most remarkable among our self-made men.

He was born in West Settlement, a back woods village of Roxbury, Delaware county, N. Y., May 27, 1836, and was the son of John B. Gould, a farmer who was fairly well to do. His mother died when he was an infant.

Mr. Gould left home with 50 cents in his pocket and studied at Hobart Academy, in a neighboring town. Here he turned an extra penny by keeping the books of the village blacksmith, eventually enjoying a brief partnership in the business. He was fond of mathematics and on leaving school found employment in making surveys for a map of Ulster county at a salary of $20 per month.

After an unsuccessful attempt to push the sale of a patent mouse-trap, which he had invented, Mr. Gould entered into partnership with Zadoc Pratt in the tannery business, in Pennsylvania, at a place known as Gouldsboro. In 1856 the patent was sold and Gould went to New York with quite an addition to his fortune. He entered into business with Chas. R. Leupp, leather merchant. In the panic of 1857 Leupp's capital was wrecked, but Gould managed to come through without severe loss. Gould's father-in-law, Mr. Miller, initiated the young financier into the railroad business, and sold him a number of shares in the Rutland and Washington railroad at a few cents on the dollar. Mr. Gould showed so much interest that he was soon elected president and general manager of the road and finally consolidated it with the Rensselaer and Saratoga railroad. When the stock went up Gould sold out at a handsome profit.

In 1859 Mr. Gould entered Wall street as a broker. He established a small private office and became expert in the handling of railroad securities. During the civil war Erie Railroad stock went down to bed rock and Gould bought it for a song. Gould rapidly became the leading spirit of the Erie Railway Company and in 1867 he was made president. He also purchased a controlling interest in the 10th National Bank. Erie shareholders brought suit to restrain the directors from issuing any more stock. The complainants asked for the appointment of a receiver. This request was granted by the appointment of Jay Gould himself. With the consent of Judge Barard, Gould bought and cancelled 200,000 shares. A corner was engineered in Erie stock about this time, and in one day its price rose from 40 to 60. A panic was averted by the action of the secretary of the treasury, who realized enough money from the sub-treasury to relieve the strain. Erie immediately fell from 60 to 42 and it was thought Gould was ruined; but he was able to weather the storm.

An attempt was made by Gould in 1869 to corner all the gold in the country. Fifty millions of dollars was the prize aimed at. The price of gold in March of that year was 130, the lowest in three years. Gould bought $7,000,000 at 132 and put up the price to 149. A few days later gold raised to 141. On September 24, the now famous "black Friday," Gould unloaded his holdings and sold a large part of his gold at 160. A little before noon an order came from Washington to sell $1,000,000 of gold from the sub-treasury. The corner collapsed and hundreds of business men and speculators were ruined.

In the Pacific railways Gould began buying Union Pacific stock in 1873. He acquired 200,000 of the 367,000 shares and assumed the management of the road. In 1876 he bought Kansas Pacific, Wash. Texas Pacific, St. Louis and Northern, Missouri Pacific and other stock, taking the Texas road out of the hands of the receiver, and realizing in the management of these lines many millions of dollars.

In 1881 Mr. Gould turned his attention to the New York system of elevated railroads. The Manhattan Railway Co. reorganized in 1880 on its present basis with Mr. Gould as president and his son, George Gould as first vice-president and operates 32.4 miles of road with assets of $54,000,000.

Mr. Gould invested deeply in the stock of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company, and in 1879 organized the American Union Telegraph Company, which in 1880 was merged into the Western Union Company. In 1883 he acquired control of the latter corporation and has since been a member of its executive committee and his son, Geo. Gould, and his business associates are members of its directory.

Mr. Gould married shortly after coming to New York, in 1836, Miss Ella Miller, daughter of a wealthy New York citizen, and had five children, three sons, George J., Edward and Howard, and two daughters, Misses Helen and Hannah Gould. Mrs. Gould died Jan. 13, 1891. His eldest son, George, who has succeeded to most of his father's business interests, was married about six years ago to Miss Edith Kingdon, the actress, and has three children. The next son, Edward, married a daughter of Dr. Shady. The other children are unmarried.

Mr. Gould was an attendant of the Presbyterian church at which Rev. John R. Paxton, D. D., is pastor, and was privately quite liberal in his support of it, though not a member of any church.

A Modern Bible Story.

1. And in those days there dwelt in the land of the Hoosieries a certain man and the name of the man was Benjamin.

2. And he waxed great in the land and the people said unto him behold, the name of thy grandfather was great in the land, and his name was in the mouths of all the people.

3. And he was chief ruler over all the people.

4. Now, therefore, arise, get thee up unto the City called Washington and become Chief Ruler over all the land from Maine even unto California.

5. And he answered them and said, whatsoever seemeth good unto you I will do.

6. And he arose and got himself up unto the City, which is called Washington and he abode there the space of four years and he ruled over the land from Maine even unto California.

7. And it came to pass that after certain days were expired that there came unto him a certain man, and the name of the man was William.

8. And William spake unto the Chief Ruler and said, If thy servant hath found favor in thy sight, let, I pray thee, this decree be established.

9. That whatsoever goods be sent within our borders by other nations shall pay a great tax which is called a tariff.

10. And the thing was good in the sight of the Chief Ruler.

11. And it came to pass, that when the people heard of it, they lifted their voices and wept, and there was great lamentation throughout all the land.

12. And the people murmured and said, one to another, why shall we have our substance taken from us and devoured?

13. Let us rise and smite the Chief Ruler and all the servants of his house that follow after him in his iniquity and utterly destroy them from the face of the earth.

14. And it came to pass in the eleventh month, which is the month November, on the eighth day of the month, that the people arose and they smote Benjamin and all the servants of his house and they utterly destroyed them from the face of the earth forever.

EMILY ZOLA.—The Hammond, Ind. Daily Tribune has this to say of the troupe which will appear at Walton's Opera House, Dec. 15th: "The entertainment given at Hohman Opera House last night by the Emily Zola Burlesque Co. was an agreeable surprise to the large audience in attendance. This famous company have, lately re-organized for the tour of '92 and '93 and number among their specialists such well-known names as Gibson and Miles, the Gentle Irish Team, whose specialty is the essence of gentility, Farnum and Worlen, the musical wonders, in their refined musical act, Miss Minnie Reynolds, the queen of burlesque, Daisy Raymond, in service comic songs, and Sadie Norwood, whose manipulation of the Indian clubs is really marvelous. Alf. Gibson, the comedian, kept the crowd in a continuous roar of laughter during the entire evening."

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY

—It seems as if the whisky fight had commenced in Lancaster. Now look out for the fur to fly.

—While monkeying with a pistol, Tom Kemper, of Marksburg, accidentally shot himself in the left hand.

—Our merchants are beginning to receive their Christmas goods and will have them displayed in a few days.

—Mrs. W. O. Sweeney gave an elegant 10 o'clock breakfast to her friends Saturday morning in honor of Miss Robinson.

—We understand that our friend, Mr. T. B. Robinson, will be an applicant for Surveyor of the Port at Louisville. If the people all over the State knew "Tommy" Robinson as well as as favorably as he is known in Garrard, he would not have the slightest difficulty in securing the appointment. A better hearted man than Tom Robinson never lived.

—Misses Lackey, of Stanford, are visiting Miss Mattie Elkin. Mrs. W. R. Marks has returned from Nashville. Miss Fields is the guest of Miss Alice Hudson. Miss Robinson, the trimmer in Mrs. Sweeney's millinery store, returned to her home Saturday. Miss Florence Harris visited Miss Katie Simpson Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Louis Doty has returned from the Commercial College at Nashville.

—Puck has a cartoon of a long haired hero of the football craze, surrounded by a bevy of female admirers, showing the tendency of the age to worship the physical rather than the mental qualities of those who aspire to celebrity. The pictures of several teams are published in the Eastern dailies and judging from their personal appearance it would be difficult to tell whether they were escaped lunatics or genuine chimpanzees.

—Now that the election of a new chief magistrate has been determined, the battle of the office seekers has begun. It bids fair to eclipse any contest that has preceded it in the number of contestants for every position from a country cross-roads post-office to a seat in the cabinet or a foreign mission. Petitions are floating around in every direction and every aspirant is satisfied that he is the one specially fitted for the position he seeks, and is equally confident of success. It would be a thankless task to attempt to convince any one seeking a position that his chances are about equal to that of drawing a thousand dollar prize in the Louisiana Lottery and that it is a waste of time to be chasing after phantoms that are like

"The baseless fabric of a vision."

The pursuit will go on all the same and it may be well to volunteer some wholesome advice, which may or may not be heeded. First, purchase a "blue book," in which all the offices of the government and the salaries attached thereto are fully described. From this book a selection can be made and then a petition can be prepared addressed to the proper authority, setting forth the qualifications of the applicant, his high standing in the community, his sterling integrity, his devotion to his party, his sacrifices of time, talents and money in upholding the party banner and his determination to die in the trenches if necessary, for the success of the cause. This petition should be signed by all the neighbors for miles around and by the Tycoons and Pashas of six tails, who are supposed to be the distributors of patronage. It will, as a matter of course, be read attentively by the one to whom it is addressed and the names will be closely scrutinized to see whether Jim Jones, Timothy Tugnutton and Dandy Doolittle's names are appended to the document. After the preparation of the petition and securing a proper amount of names it would be best to quit work for awhile and spend a reasonable quantity of time in the contemplation of the harvest that is to follow the receipt of the office. Congratulations of friends in advance will be in order, but as there is many a slip twixt the cup and the lip, it might be well to consider whether or not it would be better, after the petition is properly signed, to put it in the fire and let the post-offices and all other sorts of offices go, preferring rather to engage in some established business than to the acceptance of a position where he can be decapitated without a moment's warning by one who placed him in power, and without giving him any reasons therefor.

The Louisville Times names Hon. Jas. B. McCreary for chairman of the ways and means committee in the next House and a very safe, conservative chairman he would make. But when one goes a'cattin' why not go a'cattin'? Mr. McCreary would make an equally good speaker of the House, and Kentucky has furnished the best presiding officers Congress has ever had.—Frankfort Capital. The Capital is right. Let's go a'cattin' when we go a'cattin'.

—Editor Richardson, of the Wichita, Kansas, Beacon, says the result of the official count gives the democrats a balance of power which is absolute. The political complexion of the Legislature in joint ballot is: Republicans, 79; populists, 83; democrats, 4.

—The Casarian operation, so-called because Caesar was brought into the world that way, was successfully performed at Cincinnati Saturday, the lives of both mother and babe being saved.

SIX : PAGES.
EVERY FRIDAY.

The London Echo does not seem to understand that the currency backed by the government is good, though the legislation to secure it has been the worst that could have been conceived. The report of the republican comptroller of the currency is sufficient to prove this. For instance, he says that under the act of 1878 the government bought $308,199,262 worth of silver and coined it into $78,166,793 alleged dollars. This was a debasement of the coin to the extent of $229,962,469. The silver for which the government thus paid $308,199,262 is at present, says the comptroller, worth $57,705,326 less than it cost. The Sherman silver purchase law of 1890 has resulted in the purchase of silver bullion of $116,011.33 and for it the government has issued promises to pay that sum. The silver bought at that price is now worth, according to the comptroller, $14,134,649 less than it cost. Yet these promises must be paid in gold. Is it not time such a law should be repealed and can anybody but the Echo man blame the democrats for denouncing the republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890, as a cowardly makeshift fraught with possibilities of danger.

Miss REHAN, the actress has been chosen for the model for the silver statue of "Justice," which is to be the great exhibit of Montana in the department of mining at the World's Fair. It will be eight feet high and its intrinsic value will be $90,000. It will be mounted on a pedestal of gold, valued at $250,000. The perfectness of Miss Rehan's figure can be in some degree imagined when it is told that out of 68 measurements which mark the standard of perfect womanhood, 62 conformed to the requirements, and in none of the other six did she deviate one-quarter of an inch from the standard. Venus de Medici, or Hart's Woman Triumphant couldn't reach this perfection even in the wildest stretch of the sculptor's imagination.

CINCINNATI is to have another morning daily, The Tribune, which promises in its prospectus to be independently republican in politics and non-sensational in character. To a man occupying a perch away up a tree it looks like the promoters are very misguided individuals. The people there feed on sensations, the more immoral the better for them, and with the Enquirer to furnish it, ably seconded by the Commercial-Gazette, the new paper will have to circulate solely among the better class of church people, who are far from predominating in the Paris of America.

Four years ago Virginia gave Cleveland a bare 1,500 plurality. This year she gave him 50,722 over Benjamin Harrison. At one time when the dear old State was under Mahone domination, we almost gave her out, fearing that she was joined to a new idol, but the mother of States and Statesmen has seen the error of her way and in a glorious manner done works meet for repentance. God bless her and save her forever after from running after strange gods.

A few weeks ago the democrats of Frankfort tore up the earth celebrating the National victory, while the republicans congregated in the back room of the post office and laid their plans to capture the city offices. They counted on the local dissensions of the democracy to help them in their deep-laid schemes and they counted not in vain. The municipal election was held Saturday and the republicans elected five out of nine councilmen. Wonder where Col. E. Polk Johnson "was at?"

TOM PETTIT will have done the State some service if his bill to fix the governor's salary at $6,500 and house rent free a year which has passed the House, should become the law. The salary is now $5,000, but with the items furnished him at extravagant figures by local contractors the office costs $15,000 a year. Of course the new arrangement would not go into effect till the beginning of the next gubernatorial term.

ROBERT OLSEN was hanged at Dorchester, N. B., for the murder of a policeman. He left a confession with his lawyer which will reveal his history and real name. After his hempen cravat had been tied in the latest and most approved style, Mr. Olsen remarked to the gentleman who had done the job, "Let her go," and "he's up with the angels now."

It now takes 40 per cent. of all the revenues of the government to pay pensions and the roll is growing larger every day. A heavy check has got to be put to this outrageous business, or the country will be bankrupted. There are thousands of men living on the bounty of the government, who never got a smell of gunpowder.

LEXINGTON is undergoing a water famine, but as water is only used there for washing purposes, it doesn't matter. When its whisky supply gets low then Rome will begin to howl.

The London Echo asks what odds do we wish on the change of politics that we are each to undergo if the democratic administration does not prove a greater blessing than the republican management of affairs. We run no risk whatever in accepting the proposition as it stands, but if Editor Dyer should lose, as he will, of course, we shall require him to serve one year in the prohibition party, two with the people's and then if he will take a Turkish bath and thoroughly purify himself from head to foot, we will consider his application for membership in the grandest party that ever existed. Brer. Dyer's sins are too great and his pollution too thorough to permit his immediate acceptance into the fold. Hence these necessary precautions.

As is often the way, if there is not too much bitterness, a fight among democrats, like a fight among cats, means more democrats. Four years ago all was lovely and serene with the democrats in Texas and she gave Cleveland a plurality of 146,461. This year the party split into factions and nominated two candidates for governor, besides being torn up in matters of a local nature. To the casual noticer of current events this meant a material reduction in the vote on the National democratic ticket. But not so. Cleveland sees his 146,461 plurality and goes it 15,212 more. It is 161,673 this time. The Lone Star State seems to make a specialty of growing democrats and of the best kind, too.

It is said that all things come to him who waits, but it is generally believed by this pushing and perverse generation that it is better to be up and doing to get possession of the longest pole to reach the persimmon. A singular case of the verification of the first adage has just occurred at Chicago. Five years ago Capt. Streeter was shipwrecked, his schooner, the Rantan, being driven ashore at the foot of Superior street, Chicago. The captain propped up his boat, the land gradually was filled in, unsuccessful efforts being made to oust him. He has sold a lot for $30,000 and has 450 feet left, which are said to be worth $450,000.

SWEARING anywhere and on any occasion is a useless, sinful and filthy habit and in most States there are penalties against it in public places, but it has never been questioned before that a man hasn't the right to "cuss" on his own premises, but the point was raised in Indiana and now the Supreme Court is to decide the momentous question, for which we await with considerable interest.

POLITICS, which, according to Judge Jewell, is always h—l, is a little red-hotter than that fiery place is supposed to be, in Louisville, at present. Criminals and recrimination are indulged in on every side and everybody is a thief and a scoundrel who does not agree with the man who is as big a scoundrel as himself.

THE force bill must be wiped clean out, the tariff radically reformed and pensions brought down to an honest basis. The people expect this of the party they have placed in power by such a tremendous majority and there should be no hesitancy anywhere along the line.

THE Frankfort Capital calls a truce to the indiscriminate abuse of the Legislature and actually prints a half column to say what good work it is doing. But then Editor Johnson has a heart big enough to say nice things about the devil if he takes a fancy to him.

MR. T. H. FOX, editor of the Danville Democrat, doesn't ask for much, though deserving of a good deal. All he wants is to carry Kentucky's electoral vote to Washington and if we had the appointing power it wouldn't take us five minutes to settle the matter.

IF Jay Gould got through the eye of that needle with his $100,000,000 the balance of us rich folks can rest in peace. "We are all going to heaven when we die."

THE LEGISLATURE.

—The House very properly defeated the 8-hour bill. The vote stood 50 to 20.

—The Creiger substitute to the Spalding Fish bill, which is not so sweeping in its provisions, but prohibits seining, the use of medicated bait or dynamiting in running waters and imposes heavy penalties for violation, was passed by Speaker Moore counting a quorum when it was not present, but Mr. Combust, who was recorded for the bill, said he wasn't even present when the vote was taken and the bill was then made an special order for a certain day.

—The circuit court bill that has passed the House fixes these dates for Judge Santley's court:

Mercer county, on the 1st Monday in February, two weeks; 3d Monday in May, three weeks, and 4th Monday in September, three weeks.

Boyle county, on the 4th Monday in April, three weeks; 2d Monday in January, two weeks, and 1st Monday in September, three weeks.

—Near Somerset, John Thompson, a brakeman, was sent to flag a train. He went to sleep on the track and was struck by a train receiving serious injuries.

—The grand jury at Taunton, Mass., returned an indictment against Lizzie Borden for murder in the first degree, for the killing of her father and step-mother.

—The relatives of Senator R. S. Gibson, who is on his death bed at Hot Springs, Ark., have given up all hope for him, and the end is looked for at any moment.

—The official vote in Pennsylvania is: Harrison 516,011; Cleveland 452,264; prohibitionists 25,223; Weaver, people's, 84,714; socialist labor 328; scattering 4; total vote 1,093,014.

—In Chicago Thursday night six safes were blown open within a square of police headquarters. The police department was re-enforced next day by the addition of 300 men.

—The C. & O. has completed arrangements to run a line of steamships between Newport News and Liverpool. The first ship will sail December 10 from the first mentioned port.

—President Harrison polled 6,680 fewer votes in his own State this year than he secured in 1888. The Australian ballot law evidently interfered with the "blocks-of-five" business in Indiana.

—Full returns show that though Harrison carried Iowa it was only by a plurality. For the first time in a presidential election since the party was formed there is a majority adverse to the republicans. It amounts to 3,973.

—The counties of Marion, Green and Taylor will shortly bring suit to recover from the L. & N. $700,000 and have reclaimed the counties' lease to that company of the Cumberland & Ohio railroad from Lebanon to Greensburg.

—The supreme court of California has decided that Florence Blythe is the illegitimate daughter of Thomas H. Blythe and that the $4,000,000 he left belongs to her. The interesting young lady has just been married to a poor man.

—The estimated wealth of the United States—that is, the value of all lands, buildings, railways, etc.—is put at $64,000,000,000. The amount of money of all kinds is estimated by the secretary of the treasury to be $2,108,130,092.

—Near Ashland, a wrecking-train on the Chesapeake and Ohio collided with a freight train. George Spotts, engineer of the freight, was fatally injured, and John McCloskey, conductor, may die. Several others received serious hurts.

—The sensation at Lexington this week is the alleged destruction by his wife of the will of Editor Caldwell, and the substitution of another, so as to cut his daughter by his first wife out of the inheritance especially provided for her.

—While John Mitchell, a farmer living six miles from Harrodsburg, was preparing to kill hogs a rifle in his hands was accidentally discharged, killing his ten-year-old son. The ball went thro' the child's heart. He was an only son.

—Walter Weaver, a young farmer, was assassinated in the vicinity of Sinking Fork, Christian county. His father swore out a warrant for the arrest of D. B. Wiley, a neighbor, and his son, Wm. Wiley, whom he charges with the murder.

—Channey M. Depew said: "Mr. Gould's death will have little or no effect on the stock markets. He was too sharp a business man to make any mistake about the future. He told me eight weeks ago that his affairs were all adjusted and that should he drop dead at any time his business was so arranged that his sons could take charge of his interests at once."

—The recount of the vote in Massachusetts increases Gov. Russell's plurality to 2,696. The attempt of the defeated republican candidate so show that Gov. Russell's election was due to the mistake of voters in marking their ballots failed completely. There were nearly twice as many nullified or "blank" ballots for lieutenant-governor as for governor and yet Mr. Wilcott had nearly $10,000 plurality.

The Danville 11 beat the Miami University boys 12 to 6 in the game of football played Friday.
A. A. WARREN is opening the largest and prettiest line of Holiday goods ever seen in this market. Call in and see them.
NOTICE.—To reduce my stock of millinery I will sell from now to the 1st of Jan. my goods AT COST FOR CASH. Miss Annie Wray.
As beautiful weather as ever came in December has prevailed since it arrived, but the signal service telegraphed us yesterday that it would be broken by rain to-day.
The nearest fire plug to the Cox house is 700 feet away and the hose had to be spliced once or more, so it will be seen that the boys lost no time in getting to work at the fire.
For RENT.—House and 25 acres of pasture, 3 acres of splendid tobacco land, large garden, variety of fruit. Also two new cottages between Stanford and Rowland. H. Helm.
—It has been decided in Tennessee that the Methodist Book Concern must pay State tax like any other printing house, which is eminently proper since it does commercial printing.
A REPRESENTATIVE will be here on Dec. 5th with several trunks full of jewelry and holiday novelties. If you want any thing special, leave your order before that time with Danks, the Jeweler.
SUICIDE.—J. Ross Faulkner, son of Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia, and brother of Miss Jane Faulkner, who visited the Misses Alcorn here, committed suicide in New York by taking Paris green.
Some hungry thief stole two fat 300-pound hogs from Mr. E. P. Woods on Friday night. The loser swears vengeance against the thief and will make sausage out of him if he ever lays hands on him.
Eight hundred snits have been brought by the Middleboro Town Lands Co. on notes given by purchasers of town lots in 1889. Nearly all will be resented for failure of the Town Company to fulfill its part of the contract.
A DISPATCH from Corbin says an unknown man, aged about 30 years, was killed by a freight train about two miles south of that place Saturday evening. From papers found on his person it is thought he is a miner and his name James Moore.
ASSESSOR KENRICK says that the total taxable property in this county will be considerably less this year than last owing to the date of the assessment. The farmers have disposed of all of their surplus stock and gotten rid of the money, while the $250 exemption for each taxpayer will amount to $100,000 or more.
The following have posted notices that they will apply at the December court for license to sell liquors: A. R. Penny and W. B. McRoberts as druggists, Wm. Gooch, Henry Hester, W. H. Traylor and John Traylor as distillers, and J. H. Carter, G. W. Lee, Curtis Gover, Rounten & Leach and Sam Sims as merchants and hotel keepers.
JAMES YEAGER has sold his interest in the livery business here to his cousin, Tom Yeager, of Boyle. The former will probably go West and "grow up with the country," and the latter will, besides his livery business, train horses on his proposed track on Mr. Davis's land at Rowland. Mr. Yeager, it will be remembered, gave Wood Wilkes his mark of 224.
We dislike to dun our patrons, but when a man won't pay a just and over due debt without it, we surrender our conscientious scruples. The fact is there are too many delinquents on our list and they must pay up or their property will be shut off. We are not running the concern for fun, as exasperatingly funny as it may seem. It takes over $100 a week, hard cash, to pay the expenses of this office and if you know you owe us, as you do if your label does not read "Paid," come up or send up like an honest man and help us liquidate.
The Lawrenceburg News tells of the visit of President B. J. C. Howe, of the Howe Pump and Engine Works, Indianapolis, and his investigations with the leading citizens there as to the erection of a water plant. It is generally conceded that Salt River, two miles away, would furnish the only sure supply. Several of the city council will be here this week to see the Stanford plant and further talk with Mr. Howe, who has returned. While he was gone Mr. Howe went to Connersville, Ind., where fuel gas is used successfully, and he is confident that a plant can be put in here, which will save money over coal fuel, and do away with all of the trouble and dirt connected with it. He thinks that before very long Stanford will get her heat as she does her water, light and ice, from the establishment at the old Logan's Fort Spring, made famous in pioneer time, and which has ever been a God-send to this community.

I NEED every cent due me now to buy my stock of goods, which I shall shortly open in the new store. This is intended for every one indebted to me. So please call and settle. W. B. McRoberts.
BIG SALE.—S. P. Staggs bought of J. F. and B. G. Gover their half interest in the brick building occupied by B. F. Jones & Co., and others for $1,500, and of B. G. Gover the house on Upper Main street, now occupied by J. A. Madd, for $2,000. Mr. Gover is now building two cottages on Logan Avenue, which he also sold to Mr. Staggs as they stand for $4,000.
SERIOUSLY HURT.—Yesterday while Miss Edna, daughter of Mrs. Pokie J. Courts, who was visiting Miss Dell Feland, was taking a ride on horseback, she became alarmed at the gait the horse was going and her cries made him increase it till he was running at full speed. Just then Miss Edna fell off and sustained injuries that may prove very serious. It is said that the horse kicked her on the head, rendering her insensible. Mrs. Courts and Dr. Bailey went at once to Mr. Feland's, but had not returned up to the hour we went to press.
A SMALL FIRE.—Yesterday a few minutes before 10 A. M. the fire alarm sounded and the word went around that Dr. C. A. Cox's house was in flames. The fire company responded with almost lightning rapidity, but the long and steep hill to the premises nearly took the boys' breaths away and they were a little over 5 minutes reaching the point. The fire proved to be in the building near Dr. Cox's home, occupied by Mrs. Emily Saulley. Neighbors had taken nearly everything out of it and the roof was in a full blaze when the water was turned on when in less than a minute it was checked and in a full minute out. The house was of little value, but the boys worked as if it had been worth a good sum, and again covered themselves with glory. The defective fire was, as usual, the cause of the fire. The fire company will have to have a horse or two. The exertion of pulling the heavy apparatus to fires leaves the ladders in bad condition for fighting. The council has already arranged for rubber suits for them.
LOST HIS HORSE.—Sunday night Mr. R. G. Denny procured an outfit from I. Mack Bruce and went to see his best girl, who is visiting at Mr. Geo. Denny's, at Lancaster. He hitched his horse securely, made his debut and "as noiselessly as falls the foot of time, which only treads on flowers," the hour for him to take his reluctant leave soon flitted by. In the bright and beautiful moonlight he sought his horse, but it was not lost, and like Richard III he exclaimed in his anxiety, "A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse!" It was soon apparent that he could not find his and a kind friend took pity on him and brought him to Stanford. Yesterday he and Mr. Bruce drove over to hunt for the animal, when to their gratification and surprise they found him latched in Mr. Denny's stable, the thief having used him all he wanted and returned him safely. Mr. Denny told us yesterday in strict confidence that the next time he goes a-courting he's going to walk.
MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.
—Girls, if you want to pop the question yourselves, you will have to get a move on you or wait four years. Only about three weeks of leap year remain.
—Mr. Koltz B. Bledsoe, a popular young member of the Pineville Messenger force, eloped to Tazewell, Tenn., with pretty Miss Ora Chamberlain, where they were married.
—Mrs. Lucinda Ross, of Forsyth, Ga., whose husband died, aged 85 years, is the mother of 18 children, and has 83 grand-children, 142 great-grand-children and 15 great-great-grand-children, making 258 descendants. One grand-son when ten years old weighed 150 pounds. Another at 16 weighed 223.
—The following invitation is duly appreciated: "Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burnett invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Matilda, Caroline Hall, to Mr. Ulric Rufus Waterman, Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 14th, 1892, at 5 o'clock, Methodist Episcopal church, Winchester, Ky. At home after Dec. 20th, Ocala, Fla."
—Col. J. J. Hetch, of the Newport Journal, was married last week to Miss Annie Reichel. Editor Blakely says of them as they fly on the wedding trip: The beauty, amiability and loveliness of the character of the bride has made her hand a prize to strive for and to win and all who know him, know that a bigger heart, a better heart never beat in human bosom than beats in Justus Hetch's. They are worthy of each other and not one in Newport but bids them God speed and all happiness.
—The following was received from Bowling Green, Mo. The happy groom is well-known here: "At the residence of James W. and Mrs. Mildred Stanford, near Bowling Green, Nov. 30th, by Rev. W. J. Patrick, of the Baptist church, W. O. Park, of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Ada Carver Stanford were united in marriage. The ceremony was witnessed by only a few of the nearest relatives. Miss Stanford is one of Pike county's most amiable daughters and has a disposition that will make her friends wherever she goes. Mr. Park is an affable gentleman and has a great many friends all over the country. He is employed in the cattle department of the live stock commission firm of Mc-Coy & Underwood, of Kansas City, which position he has held for nearly eight years. After partaking of an elegant dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Park left for their home in Kansas City. May happiness and prosperity attend them through life."

CHURCH AFFAIRS.
—Rev. John Bell Gibson is holding a series of meetings at Rowland.
—The Midway Clipper says there were 91 additions to the Christian church in the recent meeting.
—The meeting at the Christian church, Carlisle, held by Rev. Darle, closed with 23 additions, says the Mercury.
—A Buffalo woman in suing her pastor for defamation of character, says he rode a bicycle and therefore had fallen from heavenly grace.
—The protracted meeting at the M. E. church South, closed Wednesday night with 17 additions, about 30 conversions and the church greatly revived.—Jesse mine Journal.
—Rev. W. E. Arnold returned Saturday from the death-bed of his aunt, Mrs. F. M. Henkle, in Bourbon County. She was the only mother he ever knew as she took him to raise at the age of 20 months. Her age was 93 and Mr. Arnold says she was one of the best women that ever lived and her death one of the most triumphant.
—Evangelist Dwight L. Moody claims to have stopped a storm and saved his ship by prayer. The vessel became disabled and seemed destined to go to pieces, but he called the 700 passengers on board to the saloon and prayed for deliverance. Shortly afterward the sea became quiet, order was restored and at night there came the vessel which took them safely into Queenstown harbor.
—The Carthage, Tenn., Record says Rev. R. B. Mahony, "who has been called as pastor of the Baptist church here, preached a very warm-hearted sermon last Sunday. He struck a sympathetic chord in the hearts of his hearers, and convinced them that he will make us a good pastor." Mr. Mahony has decided to accept the call and will leave shortly for his new field. The church is above the average of intelligence and financial ability and a singular point about it is that it numbers seven lawyers in its membership.
